THE 1963 GATE

annual publication of Wingate College • Wingate, North Carolina

Small in size, though great in heart, Wingate opens her arms to embrace those who desire to learn of things of social, intellectual, and spiritual significance.

This is a college that endears itself to all who know and love it, known for its friendly atmosphere and promotion of Christian principles.

Situated in the little town of Wingate . . . in the central

It is here that we settle into a routine of classes and a world that becomes uniquely our own. Striving for betterment, we combine the dignity of traditional ideals with the informality and laughter of daily living, forming the pattern of Wingate College life . . . and a spirit that is made up of so many things; friendship, a small student body with close faculty-student relationships, sportsmanship, sharing in the mutual despair of exams, seemingly impossible assignments, term papers, endless labs . . . and a world of happenings that are to be remembered always.

Our photographer captured a small portion of campus beauty as filtering sunlight cast shadows on well kept lawns and shrubbery.

During leisure hours students watch nearby construction stages as bell tower and the swimming pool enclosure near completion.

Ultimately, the college years are not remembered for the knowledge that is imparted; they are remembered for the people who became our friends, the people we had to learn to get along with, the people we thought better of when we gave them the chance to show themselves fairly.

The people we will remember. Our associations we will cherish. Wingate is a place to begin learning the art of living, the art of making distinctions and of knowing what is important in life. Here we profit by the advantages of a small, liberal arts college and many years from now the elusive, all-pervading quality of Wingate spirit will yet be a part of us.

Dr. Budd E. Smith,
President of Wingate College

Just as a train can be no stronger than the engine that guides it, so a college can be no greater than its president. Wingate has been most fortunate in having had since 1953 one we feel is the most capable president that any college could possibly have.

Dr. Budd E. Smith is not only an excellent administrator but also a beloved friend of every person at Wingate College. In him we find a leader who champions so skillfully the Christian principles and ideals for which our college stands.

We feel that one of the things that has endeared Dr. Smith so keenly to the hearts of the students is his constant expression of an enthusiastic faith in the promise and value of each individual. For this reason, we, the Gate staff, would like to say in behalf of all the students at Wingate our thanks to you, Dr. Smith, for all that you have done for our college. We can only give in return our heartfelt love and deepest gratitude.

Miss East works faithfully with Dr. Smith for administrative efficiency.

A Message From Our President

You have become a part of Wingote College, and Wingote College has become a part of you. We wish for each of you the very best that life offers as you devote your intelligence, initiative, imagination, industriousness, and integrity to everything that you do in the years ahead. You will find that development in your life will continue; and it will have greater meaning as you realize the importance of remembering to give yourselves away—give of your time, give of your material gains, and give of your best thoughts.

There is no place for a Wingote student in the list of failures in life. We hope that you have learned the dangers of procrastination, inability to adopt, of giving in to defeat, and sophistication. Truly, life is one of success and happiness when we are never content but always discontent with our present achievements.

So, as you move into the world and find success don't forget your Almo Mote, the school that has given you a beginning, and the teachers who have given you of their best. All of us shall continue to remember you in our thoughts and in our prayers as we move ahead.

Budd E. Smith
President

Dr. Smith is especially loved for his personal work with the students. Here he is shown with Mary Webb and her brother Jody.

Mr. Ed Gaskins congratulates Dr. Smith on the dedication of the new science building.

Dear to the hearts of all the students here at Wingote College is Mr. Walter Allen Powell. Mr. Powell has proved himself an invaluable asset to our school, our church, and to the entire community as well.

He is a teacher who demands of his students a standard of excellence that becomes them, if they are to be educated adults. He believes that each individual should exact from himself only his best in whatever he undertakes to do. Mr. Powell's many friends are also deeply influenced by the noble manner by which he conducts his personal life. His intelligence, his sincerity, his profound dedication to what he believes in, amplify his true character and proclaim him truly a Christian gentleman.

It is for his undying faith in Wingote College, for his untiring devotion and interest in the students, and for his loyalty to the highest ideals of life that we seek to render the honor that to Mr. Powell so surely is due. It is therefore our privilege to dedicate to him the 1963 edition of the Wingote College Gate.

In grateful

Mr. Walter Allen Powell

appreciation and recognition of leader • teacher • friend

Mr. Powell "aims high" both in archery and in life.

STUDENT

Life at Wingate College is made up of many things . . .

it evolves around people . . .

it includes in its most self-sufficient unity

well-beloved fellow students and cherished teachers.

LIFE...

Student life at Wingate College

is certainly a momentous chapter in our lives that we can never forget.

The Sophomore Class

"Will I be any different this year?" . . . return to Wingate . . . Same campus, but many changes . . . "How did we ever manage without the Student Union?" . . . Familiar teachers, unfamiliar courses . . . and a wail is heard, "I've forgotten how to study" . . . back into the old routine . . . "He must be trying us, that's the third pop test in two weeks." . . . Studying at the library . . . walking back from the Rec . . . "Seems just like last year . . . Hey, did you know that Bab was engaged?" . . . and one by one the sophomores from last year get married and you wonder "Will this happen to us?" . . . Suddenly you realize that there is only one semester left . . . "I'll study more this semester. I need the quality points" . . . The weather gets warmer and time gets shorter . . . the track team runs the triangle again

. . . the pool opens and suntans appear . . . "Say, if you get to O.D. this year, I'll be there" . . . and then you realize that time is limited . . . the last weeks are packed . . . "The Gate" appears and everyone collects autographs . . . exams at last and things speed up . . . Freshmen pack and the sophomores have their last week-end together . . . You walk down the aisle and realize that there are tears in your eyes. "I'm learning, I never dreamed that it was so soon or so final" . . . that precious bit of paper and suddenly you are on your own . . . "We've got to get together again, let's all come to Homecoming next year" . . . fond farewell, perhaps never to see each other again . . . a door has closed to the past, never to be opened again except in this book . . . Wingate, we'll never forget you.

Johnny Miller scores the final points that lead the Bulldogs to another victory!

Spirit . . . energy . . . and plenty of pep . . . Yea, Cheerleaders!

Delicious food and pre-holiday excitement . . . What a delightful combination!

The Freshman Class

One year gone . . . doesn't seem like it, does it? . . . remember that first day . . . what a mad scramble . . . hated to see your family go . . . "Mom, don't forget to send me my pillow, I don't know how I forgot it" . . . then the business of getting acquainted began . . . "Hi, my name is . . . and the first few days pass . . . Orientation and you begin to get into the swing of things . . . electing officers . . . one of the first things you did as a class . . . "I'm voting for her, she's cute!" . . . registration . . . classes, classes and more classes . . . "I have to rearrange my schedule, I don't even have a lunch period" . . . fronting rearranging and suddenly . . . "Well I have it worked out, but now I have two 8:00 o'clock classes" . . . studying late, rising early . . . so your first semester passes . . . it ends and you remember . . . "Weren't the football games fun and wasn't the week before Christmas wonderful?" . . . New Semester . . . dreams, and spring . . . spring fever, spring romances, baseball, green leaves, and a whole new Wingate . . . winter is a thing of the past . . . now you know everyone and Wingate is your home . . . "This year has flown, do you realize that the sophomores will soon be leaving?" . . . exams . . . you pack and promise to return for graduation . . . and so you leave . . . just remember "this has been your year, remember it, treasure it, because there will never be another like it, your Freshman year at Wingate."

ORGANIZA

There are organizations for every purpose and person on campus.

Emphasis varies from scholarships to entertainment and fun.

Students frequently find themselves in several groups at one time.

Honoraries have been formed to recognize those who excel in a special field.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL OF STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Seated: Carole Rosser, Secretary-Treasurer; Gary Coble, President; Vernon Parrish, Vice-President.
Standing: Bob Richards, Mr. Williams, Sponsor; and Susan West.

This year's Student Council was one of the hardest working groups to lead Wingote College students in recent years. The primary interest of the council was the furtherance of School Spirit. Various committees were appointed who spend money and effort to promote activities in the interest of the student body.

The three officers who headed the student body this year were: Gary Coble, President; Vernon Parrish, Vice-President; and Carole Rosser, Secretary-Treasurer. These students did their appointed jobs largely through their work with the Student Council, which, as provided in the constitution, they also headed. They were elected in the Spring of 1962, in a very heated and close campaign.

The student government sponsors many various activities on our college campus.

The Baptist Student Union is the "hub" of all the religious organizations on campus, for it is the official link between the student and the church. To be eligible for membership, a student must be a member of the Wingate Baptist Church or any religious body on campus. The religious organizations include Sunday School, Training Union, Ministerial Association, and Y.W.A. The activities of the Baptist Student Union include Morning Watch, Focus Week, and Vespers. Through these projects the entire student body is made aware of the ideals of the Baptist Student Union and is better acquainted with the Christian atmosphere of Wingate.

Triangle Staff

Interesting articles, items of interest, messages from our faculty—all these, and more, are to be found in our school paper, the Triangle.

The staff of this successful monthly paper are to be commended for their fine work this year. The Triangle is always eagerly awaited; teachers always know when it has been distributed before their class because of the quiet which prevails as each student strives to read as much as possible before the final bell.

It is part of a school's obligation to the students to keep them informed, and the Triangle does more than well at doing so.

Biology Club

Sigma, the symbol for Service; Alpha, the symbol for Ability; and Omicron, the symbol for Optimism. The name of this club explains itself—an honorary engineering fraternity dedicated to the idea of serving one's fellow men with ability gained through careful study and optimism attained from a job well done.

The Biology Club is organized to give students with a love for nature an opportunity for more extensive nature study. Meetings are held regularly for members to view films, to participate in discussion, or to take field trips.

Months of meeting, days of taking pictures, and then hectic weeks of identifying pictures . . . then suddenly it's all over. The material has been completed and delivered to the printer. Everyone holds his breath and waits. "Will everything by O. K.?" "Did I misspell anyone's name?" "Are you sure these colluses on my fingertips aren't permanent?"

For the 1963 Gate staff, the typewriter keys are silent and the flashing of bulbs has ceased. Soon another staff will begin thinking about next year's theme for theirs will be the task of publishing the yearbook. They will find that with each hour spent on preparing for the deadline, they will become more attached to the book and will look forward with anxiety to its publication.

It has been an enjoyable experience for the 1963 staff and it is hoped that today and in the years to come you will enjoy it . . . as pictures and copy renew your life at Wingate College.

Church Related Vocations

The Church Related Vocations group is for students who plan to enter some phase of Christian service directly related to the work of the church and its ministry. Actual service which serves as a means for Christian fellowship and growth is also made available. This group offers training and experience in speaking, Christian service, and understanding problems of the work of all students who are studying for the ministry, religious education, church music, missions, and all other church-related vocations.

Masque And Wig

A youthful but vital part of the student's life, the Masque and Wig Club provides varied creative outlets for every interested student. From tryouts to production, the theater involves both the work and the artistic ingenuity of many people. The year's productions have been THE NIGHT OF JANUARY 16TH, a collection of three one-act plays, and a musical. Miss Sue Yarbrough has been instrumental in continuing the rapid growth this department has made.

Delta Psi Omega

Outstanding members of Masque and Wig are honored yearly by being invited to join Delta Psi Omega. Membership requirements are rigid, and prospective members must have quite an impressive list of performances or behind-stage work to be considered. National Delta Psi Omega was organized in 1929 to provide a wider fellowship for those interested in the college theater, and our local chapter works closely with the national fraternity.

Debate Squad

The Debate Squad is one of the most active organizations on the Wingote campus. The debaters participate in many debate tournaments in the country against competition from the larger universities. Many long hours of preparation are needed before a meeting, and it is not unusual for the team to bring home top honors. Wingote is very proud of this fine group and the able coach, Mr. Joel C. Herren.

Under the direction of Coach Connell, the Bulldog cagers have kept up Wingate's good basketball tradition by compiling an 8-6 record with the season still incomplete. The Bulldogs had five men returning from last year's squad, but the new men have helped keep them high in conference standings.

Coach Ronald Christopher

Baseball

As the leaves begin to bud, the flowers bloom, and the air becomes soft and sweet with spring, our minds drift away from the icy thrill of football and the fervor of basketball and begin to focus on our notional sport—baseball. There is nothing quite as exciting as sitting in a ballpark with the afternoon sun beating down on your back, waiting anxiously for that third strike, that long run, or the umpire's decision in a slide.

In the past, Wingote has always been made proud of its fine baseball team. As this annual goes to press, baseball season is still to be; however, we know that this year, as before, our team will not let us down, but go on and on . . . to victory.

FEATURE

Wingate holds for its students definite highlights
that leave indelible marks in our memories . . .
that leave a satisfying
warmth in our hearts.
Such features are not simply honors involving a select few,
but they are activities
that concern every student in that each one is entitled to cast his vote for the person
he feels deserves recognition.

E S

Each individual senses his own school spirit
as he proudly witnesses the colorful Homecoming Court and the lovely host of May Day beauties.
It is to re-live such events in our hearts and memories that we present this section of student achievement.

Each year members of the sophomore class are selected by a student nominating committee and voted upon by the faculty for recognition in Who's Who among students on the Wingate Campus.

Qualifications for membership include scholarship, participation and leadership in academic and extra-curricular activities, citizenship and service to the school, and promise for future usefulness.

This year fourteen students were selected to receive this honor.
